DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 13-14 and 27-28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Re claims 13 & 27 (and dependent claims 14 & 28), the recited asymmetric transformation maps are described as mappings between two resolution-independent spaces. However, the "asymmetric" behavior described by Applicant appears to be inherently related to device resolution in horizontal and vertical directions (e.g. Page 2, lines 20-21). Thus, it is unclear how an "asymmetric" mapping related to this "asymmetric" behavior can be defined in "resolution-independent" terms.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 1-13, 15-26, & 29-30 are allowed.
4. Claims 13-14 and 27-28 would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, set forth in this Office action.

Art Unit: 2624

5. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:

Re claims 1, 15, & 29 (and dependent claims 2-14, 16-28, & 30), the art of record does not teach or suggest the recited arrangement of asymmetrical trapping regions that compensate for the asymmetrical (i.e. nonunit aspect ratio of pixels) misregistration behavior of a printing system.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Kyohara, Brennan, and Wentworth disclose examples of prior-art printer misregistration compensation.
